Equality and Diversity

T. +44 (0) 3332 244586

Has your workforce received equality and diversity training?

No two people are the same. We are different in so many ways, from our cultures and religions to our personalities and social backgrounds.

Has your workforce received sufficient training on how to nurture equality and diversity in the workplace?

Health and Safety Executive - HSE

Who is equality and diversity training for?

This course is aimed at all people in all workplaces, regardless of background, occupation or religion.

Equality is often treated as a sensitive issue. Too many people are wary of approaching the topic, worried that they'll say something that causes offence. This course eliminates confusion surrounding equality and diversity.

What does the equality and diversity course cover?

The equality and diversity course covers:

- UK legislation relating to equality and diversity.
- How to minimise prejudice and celebrate diversity in the workplace.
- How to expand your workforce's perspectives to encourage acceptance of others.

What is the benefit of equality and diversity training in your business?

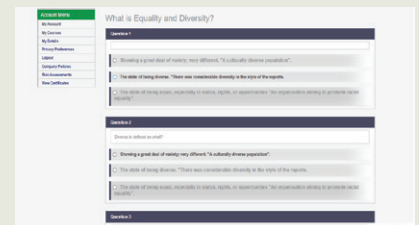

Ask any individual this question and you'll probably get a different answer, which in essence, is the key. The true meaning of equality and diversity is often obscured by myths and stories. This course will enable your staff to understand important issues surrounding equality and diversity in an engaging, interactive manner. Staff can complete their training at any time to suit your needs.

Video Presentations.
